ELINOR ST. CLAIR
"Ish"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"She was a form of life and light
That soon became a part of sight."

FRED SALEM
"Shoe"
ST. ALBANS, W. VA.
"A friend at basket-ball, football, too,
And play he would the season through."

GRACE LILLIAN MEADOWS
"Gracie"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"Beauties in vain their pretty eyes may roll;
Charms strike the sight, but merit wins the soul."

MARY HAZLETT FERGUSON
"Mopsy"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"And still they gazed,
And still the wonder grew
That one small head
Should carry all it knew."

LEWIS PAUL BOWLING
"Slim"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"Again I hear that creaking step!
He's rapping at the door!
Too well I know the boding sound
That ushers in a bore."

MARY ANN MEADOR
"Tommy"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"The bright brown eye, the melting blue,
'Twas hard to choose between the two."

WALTER RAPPOLD
"Wallie"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"The scorer writes not that you won or lost,
But how you played the game."

JAMES LAURIE
"Pringle"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"I cannot draw a cart or eat oats,
But if it's a man's work, I'll do it."

STUART DUPUY
"Prunes"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"A little bud of loveliness, that never should grow older."

GRACE ELIZABETH ELLISON
"Patty"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"Laugh and be merry."

INEZ BLANCHE CLAY
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"A light or dark, or short or tall,
She sets a spring to snare them all;
All's one to her—above her fan
She'd make sweet eyes at Caliban."

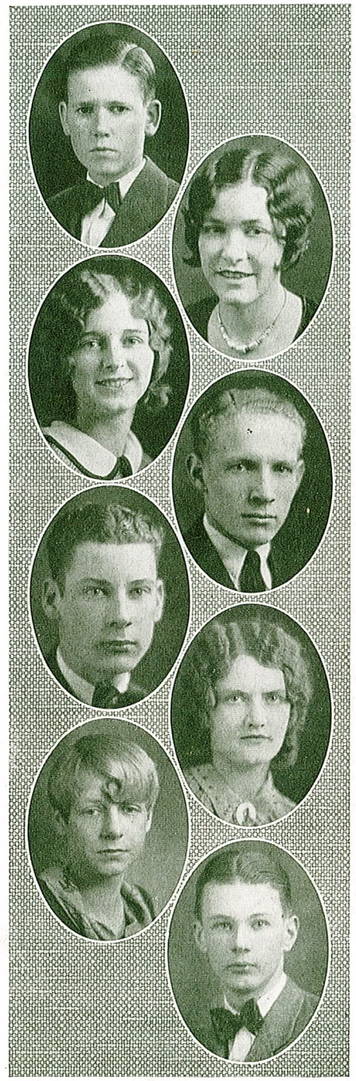
ALFRED TRUMAN
"Truman"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"His pencil was striking, resistless, and grand,
His manners were gentle, complying, and bland;
Still born to improve us in every part,
His pencil our faces, his manners our heart."

JAMES BAIR
"Jimmie"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"The very gods forgot to speak
When 'Jim' appeared with manner meek."

CATHERINE SLACK
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"The boys call her sweet;
The stairs, as she treads them, kiss her feet."

GERALDINE WARREN
"Jerry"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"I love its giddy gurgle, I love its fluent flow,
I love to wind my mouth up, I love to hear it go."

MERRALL C. EVANS
"Little Man"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"In arguing too, Merrell owned his skill,
For even though vanquished he could argue still."



When I am gone I must forget you. "Grace"

I never will forget the good old times we had together in the dining room. Miss Payson & Mrs. Greene.

You are the only one I must ever confess myself in love and school too. Jack.

HOWARD GRIFFITH
"Griff"
Beckley, W. Va.
"With grave aspect he rose,
And in his rising seemed a pillar of state."

MILDRED KNOTTS
"Sis"
Beckley, W. Va.
"Her modest looks the cottage might adorn,
Sweet as the primrose peeps beneath the thorn."

GRACE LOUISE WALKER
Beckley, W. Va.
"Yet, taught by time, my heart has learned to glow,
For others' good and melt at others' woe."

I've written this a million times: The ruination of a good annual. Blondy.

HOWARD WALLS
"Walls"
Beckley, W. Va.
"Nor swift, nor slow to change, but firm."

SHERMAN TRAIL
Lester, W. Va.
"Some deemed him wondrous wise,
And some thought him mad."

MARY ITA LYNCH
Sprague, W. Va.
"For they conquer who believe they can."

CORINNE HURTT
"Cora"
Sprague, W. Va.
"As a rolling stone gathers no moss, so the roving heart gathers no affections."

JACK HOLLANDSWORTH
"Lightning"
Beckley, W. Va.
"Some shout him, and some hang upon his car,
To gaze in his eyes, and bless him."

HERMAN ALBERT PLUMMER
"Happy"
Beckley, W. Va.
"Tobacco is a dirty weed,
It was the devil saved the seed.
It drains your pockets, soils your clothes,
It makes a chimney of your nose."

EMILIE HURT
"Lee"
Raleigh, W. Va.
"A good heart is better than all the heads in the world."

ALMA MAE FITZPATRICK
"Awl"
Skelton, W. Va.
"It is good
To lengthen to the last a sunny mood."

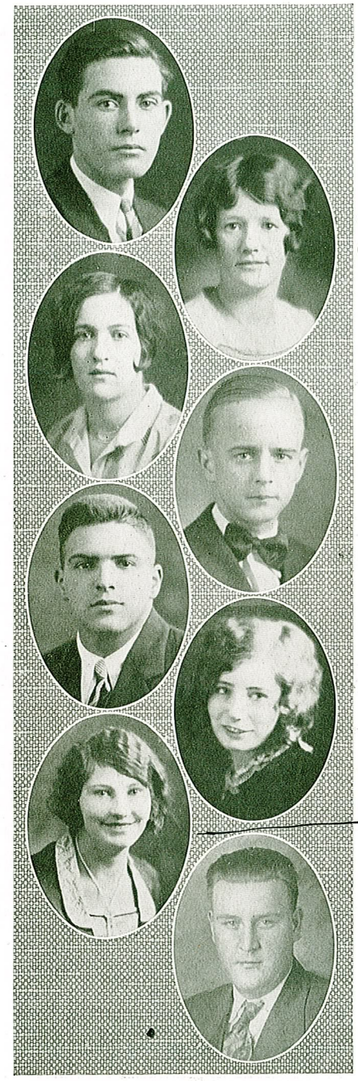
WOODROW HOUCHINS
"Woodie"
Beckley, W. Va.
"Care to our coffin adds a nail, no doubt,
And every grin, so merry, draws one out."

EDWARD BRIDI
"Lucky"
Lester, W. Va.
"I am not lean enough to be a good student."

IRIS SHUMATE
"Toots"
Beckley, W. Va.
"Did nothing in particular,
And did it very well."

FRINCHIE ELVA RORRER
"Dutch"
Beckley, W. Va.
"Quiet in appearance, with motive unknown."

DANIEL EDGAR POLK
"Danny"
Sophia, W. Va.
"'Tis the voice of the sluggard; I heard him complain,
You have waked me too soon, I must slumber again."



Remember the good times we had in Home Ec. club. Emilie

I wish you much happiness and success also Remember me Elva. The ruination of a good annual. Daniel Polk.

Let each man do his best."

HENRIETTA LEE KOINER
"Henny"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"Sensitive, swift to resent, but as swift in atoning for error."

AILEEN CALVERT MULLER
"Trixie"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"How her fingers went when they moved by note
Through measures fine, as she marched them o'er
The yielding planks of the ivory floor."

HERBERT LAWSON
"Lop"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"At sight of thee, the reddest beet,
Would go 'way back and take its seat."

WILLIAM MADISON SHANKLIN
"Bill"
BECKLEY, W. VA.

But what as yet, I know not."

THEODORE STOVER
"Ted"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"Inconsistency is the only thing in which men are consistent."

EARL WARDEN
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"If I live to grow old, as I find I go down,
Let this be my fate in a country town;
May I have a warm house, with a stone at my gate,
And a cleanly young girl to rub my bald pate."

LOUISE BARBARA GRIFFITH
"Little Griff"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"Her smile was prodigal of a summery shine,
Gaily persistent, like a morn in June."

MAUDE HOBSON
"Strawberry"
BECKLEY, W. VA.
"Whether she speaks in truth or jest,
Her opponent comes out second best."

ALBERT LESTER WILLIS
"Les"

ESTA WILLIAMS
Beckley, W. Va.
"Stretched on the rack of a too easy chair,
I heard thy everlasting yawn confess
The pain and penalties of idleness."

ROBIN SPANGLER
"Bob"
Cirtsville, W. Va.
"I love the lassies one and all,
I love them, big and wee,
I love them, chubby, fat or tall,
But nobody loves me."

BESSIE TOLBERT
Beckley, W. Va.
"She would not, with a peremptory tone,
Assert the nose upon her face her own."

PAULINE COMER
"Polly"
Beckley, W. Va.
"Long shall we seek her likeness, long in vain,
Nature formed but one such woman, and broke the die in molding Pauline."

Senior Class Poem

Dear old Woodrow Wilson High,
We list to your call to the fray;
"Win" is your challenge and we will try
With service your debt to repay.

Joyfully our duty we face,
Never from right let us fly;
Happy, a new life we embrace,
Lovingly we say goodbye.

In our hearts a vision glorious,
Shall forever be our stay;
Woodrow Wilson High illustrious
Always to our dying day.

A vision that shall guide us
Through all trials to success,
A vision that shall lift us
To the heights of happiness.

A dear old Woodrow Wilson High,
Of all the schools the best,
We hurl your banner to the sky,
So high it flies 'bove all the rest.

So together we will run the race,
With the world we'll fall in line,
And in the end we'll take our place,
The dauntless class of twenty-nine.

—Catherine Gallagher.

Reminiscence

Friends, put away your books; forget your troubles; let's have an hour of pleasure. Together we shall stroll through the wooded fields of memory.

Summer is almost past; autumn is approaching on feet so nimble. We have already crossed the bridge and as we enter the meadow, we hear bells ringing. At a distance we see the dear old Junior High School Building. A confusion of thoughts and recollections whirl through our brains. At last our minds focus upon one definite thing—the ninth grade party! Girls, can you ever forget the first time you wore silk stockings? However, you've never experienced the thrill that the boys did when they made their debut in long pants. Remember the Charleston contest?

We must leave the party now and receive our diplomas. Didn't you feel all alone as your shoes squeaked across the stage?

Farewell Junior High! We have now become young ladies and gentlemen. The Seniors, however, didn't treat us that way when we came over to Woodrow Wilson High School. They put us under the showers and didn't even want us to participate in the flag fight. You remember what we did! We were in it up to our necks when one of the Seniors tore the seat out of his pants.

The Freshman Colonial Party was a splendid opportunity for the girls. They made use of it too. Most of them simply burst forth into cherry blossoms from the fashion book of 1780. The George Washingtons were awe stricken and could but smile and twirl their mustaches.

When we became Juniors, there was no awaiting for volcanic eruption. We asserted ourselves at the beginning of the year and sometimes when the Seniors weren't looking, we sneaked in at the front door.

Fun was our middle name but business always comes before pleasure.

Our first project was the sponsoring of the sale of football trophies for the Hinton-Beckley football game.

Next on our program was a picture show. You'd be surprised how many Freshies went to see the "Student Prince."

In order to relieve aching stomachs and watering mouths, we placed a table of sweetness in each hall. Or that is, we sold candy. The whole school joined in the chorus: "And the nickles and the dimes rolled away."

We worked and struggled; counted pennies and fought bill-collectors. Finally we came up to the top.

The Junior-Senior Frolic was the big event of the year. It went off with a bang! That was due to the balloons.

Now we're Seniors, but I dare say some of us will never grow up. The same old smiles, hearty laughs, and Chemistry fears.

Our combat with the Juniors in selling Lyceum tickets wasn't so very healthy, but we don't mind giving them a party. However, we'll have to serve wholesome food or they'll repay us at the Junior-Senior Banquet.

At the football party, there were almost enough students for two teams. As our principal, Mr. Knotts said, there weren't enough girls to go around. Consequently those present got the rush that a girl gives a fellow at Christmas time.

We're getting lined up now for the Senior Class Play. Every one be on his look out to see who will be the alluring Greta Garbo and the flashing John Gilbert.

The plans for a successful year have been made, and the stage is properly set. Now it is up to us, led on by the winning and forceful Miss St. Clair, to finish the action.

—Mary Ann Meador.

Senior Confessions

Dwight File—Confesses his long suit is football, but his weakness is in the ladies.

"Doc" Thompson—"I'm not so bright in Algebra II, but I'll have to confess I'm the best looking boy in school.

Merrill Evans—"I've done my 'darndest' to turn Sociology class into a debating club.

Aileen Muller—"I confess I don't know just what Mr. Sallack will do without me next year.

Georgia Kidd—"I confess I don't know whether this school will miss me next year, but I'm sure Tucker will.

Blanche Clay—"I confess even though I was only 'Miss Beckley's alternate I should have been Miss Beckley'."

Virginia Maxwell—"I just can't help liking "Hollidays'."

Corrine Hurtt—"I confess I do know how to win my man, as you know, 'The way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

"Bill" Shanklin—"I confess I can't help liking 'Maxwell House Coffee'."

Walter Rappold—"I admit I'm Mrs. Millirons' pet as I'm the only one who can stand up in home room."

Stuart Dupuy—"I have to admit I've the best looking Ford in Beckley."

Louise Griffith—"I confess I just can't help being jealous of Virginia Maxwell."

French A. Harper—"I'll have to admit I just can't see anything good-looking about 'Doc' Tompson."

"Tommy" Meador—"Paul had eyes of blue so that's my weakness now."

Edythe Farley—"I'm not sociable enough. This is not due to any backwardness on my part, but to a recognition of my own worth."

Fred Salem—"I neglect the ladies too much; I have been known to stay at home a whole evening to prepare my lessons."

George Ragland—"Father: I have committed many, many sins, but breaking ladies' hearts was not one of them."

Henrietta Koiner—"I came here an innocent and devout Freshman. I confess that I have fallen far and often—Cicero has been my principal stumbling block."

Paul Bowling—"Father: Please don't think me naughty because I seem to have a fondness for the vicinity of the school and often drive out Granville Avenue to turn my car."

Catherine Gallagher—"Father: I have many sins, but there is one that stands out like a wart on a man's nose—I have a fatal weakness for 'crushes'."

Herbert Lawson—"Great have been my shortcomings. Many have been the plans I have laid to break fair maidens' hearts. Though none have been successful, I have had the evil intentions."

Lawrence Pack—"Father: I got married when a Senior and if you will forgive me this time, I will never do it again."

Howard Walls—"The single aim of my life is to become fat. I have tried exercising, heavy eating and tonics; but with no avail. I try to keep this quiet."

Lewis Peck—"I'll admit her red hair looks beautiful in the moonlight, while we're parked on Knob Hill."

Mary Ferguson—"Mildred Knotts and Patty Ellison confess that even though these may not be the truth, 'We hope you don't feel hurt.'"

SCENE: Living-room at Rockmere, Beach Haven, Mass.
TIME: The present.

Honor Bright is selling reference books to help pay her way through college. On her first day out she strays into the home of the Barringtons.

The only son of the household, Dick, has become engaged to a chorus girl, and at his importunity his mother has arranged for the girl to visit them.

Dick's uncle, a bishop, and his Aunt Peggy, have stopped off on their way to Europe to meet their nephew's fiance. When she fails to appear her delay causes great anxiety. In his desperation, Dick hits upon the plan of palming off the girl book agent as his fiance. Honor agrees to assume the role of the chorus girl with the understanding that she is to remain only for dinner. This leads to complications which are enhanced by the unexpected arrival of the real fiance. As Dick is unequal to the delicate task of presenting two fiances, it is necessary for Honor Bright to remain until matters are cleared up.
