INDEX

THIS INDEX, requiring a year to produce, and designed to cover the entire Trilogy (the three-volume set of "BECKLEY, U S A") turned out to become an almost impossible task; even though a way was found to contain it in less space. For instance, a thorough re-check of all references and page numbers would have delayed publication another full year. And, surely, by that time much of the biographies and material would have changed so substantially as to spoil their significance. Therefore please understand if a name might have been omitted.

CORRIGENDA

A failure to clarify a statement at the top of page 575 relating to Raleigh County "Circuit and Criminal Judges," caused some misunderstanding. The statement claimed "a Complete Roster of ALL Federal, Circuit and Criminal Judges Serving Under Our Present Constitution." Note the underscored words. Actually, there were other judges before those shown and mentioned, but not "Under Our Present Constitution"; and, these were, in this order: Matthew Dunbar, 1850; Edward D. Bailey, 1856; Evermont Ward, 1860 (who, under the present constitution became the first to serve, 1873); David McComas, 1861; Henry J. Samuels, 1865; William L. Hindman, 1866; Henry L. Gillaspie, 1868 - then, came the Constitution.

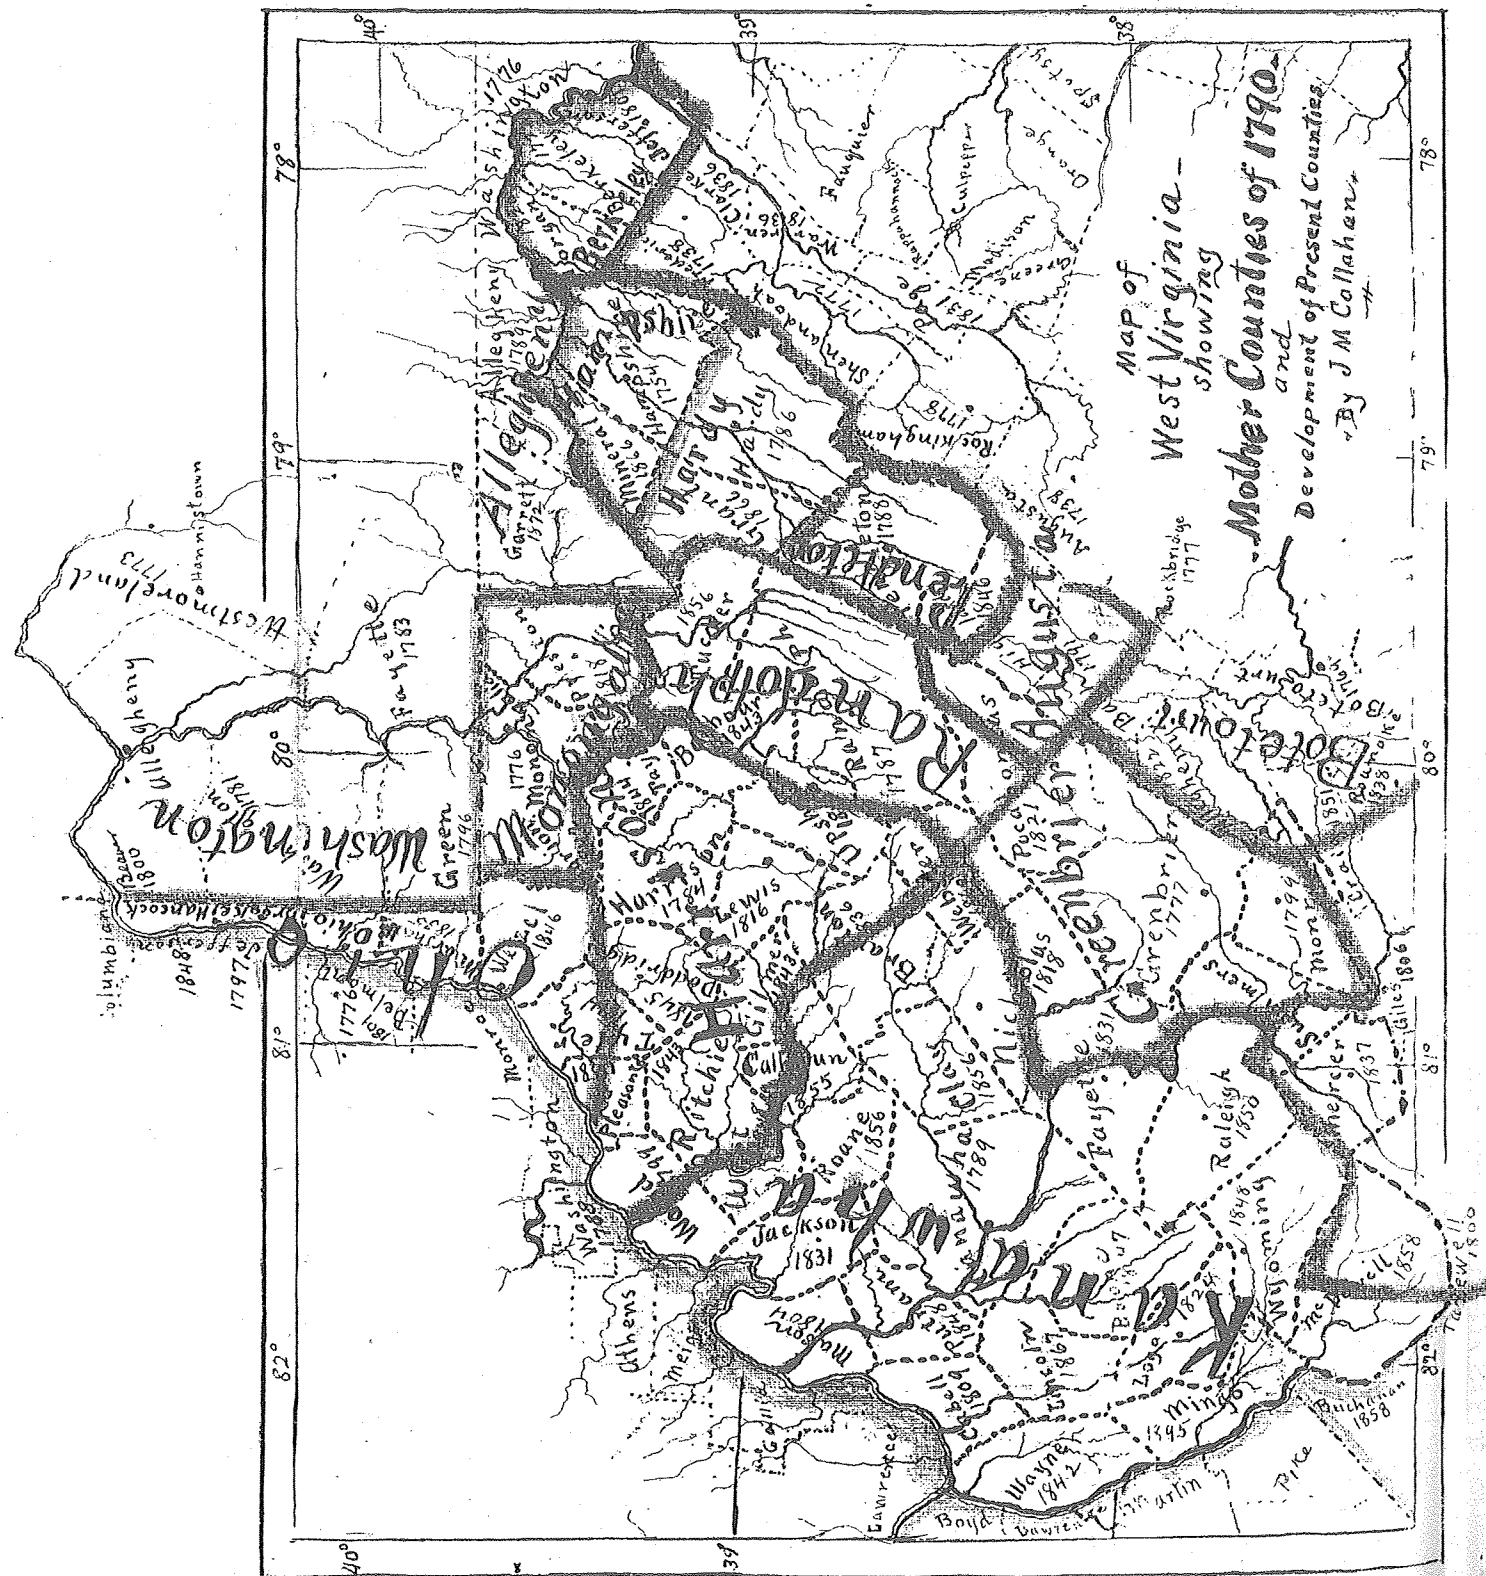

Incidentally, Judge David E. Johnston, 1881, was the father of our own D. Howe Johnston, son-in-law of Senator McCree and former cashier of the original First National Bank which merged with the Bank of Raleigh (see index); and, not least, the famous Judge R. C. McClaugherty, 1889, who had the sad duty to sentence William I. Martin to be hanged (see story and picture on page 5).

In an interview with the late Mrs. Grace Lilly Smith several years ago, she clarified some confusion in a previous book as to her immediate family: Mrs. Smith was the daughter of "Big George" W. Lilly, and the wife of Kenley E. Smith. She listed her eight children as Henry, Wm. H., Mrs. William (Ruth) Frye, Kenley W. (Pete), Mayo, Thomas E., Mrs. O. W. (Mary) Bond and Mrs. Dewey (Virginia) Donaghue. Kenley E. Smith was listed in error as the son of Henry Lilly in the prior book and this should have read Henry Smith.

Omitted from the Family Tree on page 398 was: Emma Jane Beckley, only daughter and last child of Alfred and Emile Neville Craig Beckley, was born January 12, 1845, and died August 20, 1848, after only two or three days of suffering from scarlet fever, at the age of three years and six months. There was one other daughter born to Alfred Beckley and his second wife, the former Jane Rapp, who died at the age of 21, and her name was Mary Emily Beckley. (See page 398).

With deepest apologies for these and any other misstatements or errors, made in any of the three books. And, who was the "Baber" who left us with this profound thought: "Among Life's dying embers, I have but two regrets, when I'm right no one remembers, and when wrong no one forgets?"

In Many Counties

The counties or townships into which the Crown colonies of Virginia was originally divided, embraced within their somewhat general and indefinite boundaries, vast areas of practically unexplored lands, and as the population increased these counties were subdivided into smaller areas with new names, for the better and more convenient administration of government. The genesis of Raleigh county, with the names of its ancestral counties and the dates of formation may be given in tabular form as follows:

County Created	Year	Taken from Parent Counties
Orange	1734	Spottsylvania
Augusta	1745	Orange
Botetourt	1770	Augusta
Fincastle	1772	Botetourt
Montgomery	1777	Fincastle
Kanawha	1789	Montgomery and Greenbrier
Giles	1806	Montgomery, Monroe Tazewell and Wythe
Logan	1824	Giles, Cabell, Tazewell and Kanawha
Fayette	1824	Logan, Greenbrier, Nicholas and Kanawha
Raleigh	1850	Fayette
Wyoming	1850	Logan
Raleigh (Slab Fork District)	1872	Wyoming

It is fairly illustrative of the general ignorance existing in early days regarding the extent of the North American Continent and the portion thereof contained within the confines of the Crown Grants, that the above mentioned county of Augusta extended (by its description), in a westerly direction from the summit of the Allegheny mountains, at least to the Mississippi river—if not to the “uttermost sea” and also included the greater portion, if not all of the present state of Kentucky.

Over a century before the first settlement was made in the New River and Kanawha valleys, the region was explored as far west as the falls of the great Kanawha by a party of Virginians under Captain Thomas Bates with a commission from the General Assembly “for the finding out the ebbing and flowing of ye South sea.” (Pacific Ocean), to which sea the territory of Virginia was as above stated, supposed to extend.

Raleigh County was formed from Fayette in 1850. Beckleyville (now Beckley) incorporated in 1850 coincident with its selection as the county seat received its early growth largely through the activities of General Alfred Beckley who in 1836 married Miss Amelia Neville Craig of Pittsburgh, resigned his commission as first lieutenant in the army and removed to Fayette county to improve a body of unsettled lands (now in Raleigh) for his widowed mother and himself. Largely through Beckley's influence, the Giles, Fayette and Kanawha turnpike, authorized by acts of 1837 and 1839 was constructed from Giles Court House via Red Sulphur, Indian creek, the Bluestone to its mouth, Flat Top mountain, Beaver creek, Beckley's Loup creek and Fayette Court House to the Kanawha.—History of W. Va., Vol. I, top of Page 168.

On pages 239 and 240 of the above book, there is a list of 126 (towns) incorporated within the present limits of West Virginia by acts of the Virginia Legislature in the century before 1861, with names arranged in the order of the dates of the Acts of incorporation, and with geographic section indicated in each case. Among these under the yeardate of 1837 Beckley of Raleigh County gives as the Region of State, Guyandotte and Big Sandy Valley.
